With this announcement, Goldman & Partners has been added to the list of the first 10% of companies to receive 2018 Best for the World B Corp.

It has been awarded for the positive impact of their business, measured by an independent and global assessment by the American non-profit certification company B Lab.

B Lab assessed over 2,400 B Corporation certified companies across all categories based on the B Impact Assessment (BIA).

This assessment measures the positive impact of the business on its customers, employees, the social community and the environment.

The UN has chosen BIA as a tool to help companies to assess and monitor the improvement of their performance concerning achieving the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) by 2030.

Goldman & Partners was awarded Best for the World B Corp 2018 in three categories: Overall, Environment and Workers.
