

Goldmann & Partners, just two years after obtaining the @BCorporation certification, and for the second consecutive year, obtains the BestForTheWorld2019 recognition for the Environment category. The award recognizes the company's ability to create products and/or services that optimize the performance of its customers, helping to reduce the energy and environmental impact of their activities. We see it as an important recognition of our strong commitment from the beginning to make this world the best it can be.
